

January 2017

monthly newsletter

Super Glue Corporation News: January 2017

New Year Repair Resolutions with Super Glue

With the New Year upon us, it's once again time to compile your annual list of things to improve on. A new start often brings with it promises of going back to the gym; laying off certain foods; or dropping any nagging, bad habits. What many people don't think about are the small fixes around the house that need attention

These repairs are all too often neglected because they're not always noticeable, and the excuse "I'll get around to it eventually" is just too easy to make. If there was ever a time to get around to it, it's the New Year. Start 2017 by getting your hands dirty and putting your Super Glue to good use, because the best resolutions are the ones which truly make you feel accomplished..

[\[Read The Full Article Here\]](#)

Shedding Light on the Winter Months with Super Glue

In This Issue:

- New Year Repair Resolutions with Super Glue
- Shedding Light on the Winter Months with Super Glue
- Home Centerpieces: How They're Possible with Super Glue

Links

- Super Glue Corporation Home Page
- Super Glue Blog

Follow us on:

Forward to a Friend!

Summer is long gone, fall is behind us, and winter has once again taken over with cold days and chilly nights. While there's nothing more fun than going out with friends or taking a family vacation, there is something about these winter weeks that just begs us to stay inside and simply get cozy.

Candles not only make an easy accent to any shelf or table, but lend themselves beautifully to personalization. With a virtually endless choice of size, shape, and color, DIY candle holders are the perfect homemade project for those looking for a cheap and charming addition to their home. Why be confined to cuddling up by the fire when you can spread the warmth?

[\[Read The Full Article Here\]](#)

Home Centerpieces: How They're Possible with Super Glue

The key to designing a room or decorating any space is how you tie it together. Accents, negative space, and varying color palettes all function together to bring aesthetic wholeness to your living space. Naturally, the heart of any room is the centerpiece. A thoughtfully placed flower arrangement or candle layout can instantly gift your dining room with added personality and charm, but why spend your money on centerpieces you can't change when you can make your own for a fraction of the cost?
Dish Centerpiece Decoration

[\[Read The Full Article Here\]](#)

Click here to unsubscribe | Forward to a friend