

September 2010

monthly newsletter

Super Glue Corporation News: September 2010

What Are The Most Essential Items In Your Adventure Tool Kit?

Cooler September days, blue skies, and open roads call out to adventurous types. Traveling light, carrying along only the most essential items, is mandatory. We're interested in hearing from you: What are the MOST essential items in your adventure tool kit?

[PHOTO CREDIT: AdventureCycling.org]

Read Full Article

Funny:) ... "Be Careful With Super Glue"

In This Issue:

- What Are The Most Essential Items In Your Adventure Tool Kit?
- Funny:) ... "Be Careful With Super Glue"
- Teachers Rock!
- Amazing Mini-Kites!
- Geocaching ... Show us your cache & you may win!

Links

- Super Glue Corporation Home Page
- Super Glue Blog

If you're not on Twitter then you may not have seen this funny picture of Germany's Chancellor, Angela Merkel, being circulated about ... Whoever put this together had a funny sense of humor ... even we had to laugh :) !

Photo Credit: via [Heimerik from Twitter]

Read Full Article

Teachers Rock!

It still seems like summer to us, but we know of several schools (here in California and elsewhere, too) that have already started the new school year.

We just want to say "TEACHERS ROCK"! So many hours are spent by teachers every year decorating classrooms and preparing lesson plans, usually on shoestring budgets. It is awe-inspiring how much love and time is dedicated to making learning fun, rewarding, motivating, and enjoyable for our young people.

Photo Credit: [A Small Fox In A Big World blog]

Read Full Article

Amazing Mini-Kites!

These amazing miniature kites are replicas of exotic Oriental art used on kites, and measure no larger than 6 inches! The craftsman wrote in to tell us his story about how he uses our product, Fix-All adhesive, to construct these treasures. Here's what Webb Taylor told us about these gorgeous works of art:

"I am a retired aero-space engineer and have taken up the hobby of making miniatures of oriental kites..."

Read Full Article

Geocaching ... Show us your cache & you may win!

Have you heard about geocaching? It is a new, hike and seek, game being played by adventurous kids, of all ages, throughout the world. Using GPS devices, and clues posted on the Geocaching website, treasure hunters go walking and hiking in hopes of locating unique caches (containers holding log books, stamps, and sometimes even items free for the taking as long as they're replaced for something of equal or greater value).

Video Credit: Splinterheads via [Geocaching Website]

Read Full Article